Cuban Fiesta

Restaurant Menu Gourmet at Camping Marbella Playa in Las Chapas held a "Noche Cubana" last month. The night consisted of a live band entertaining the audience with traditional Cuban songs, sexy Cuban dancing from members of the audience and specially designed dishes for all in attendance.

Community Spirit for Children for Peace

Redline Company, a local marketing and graphic design agency, often gets involved in philanthropic activities, believing that it is important to participate actively in the community to help those less fortunate.

Currently helping the Children for Peace charity by designing their invitation and tickets for the upcoming charity event in Villa Padierna, Redline has a long list of past benevolent involvement. In 2009, they actively supported the Caras Felices Charity, a cleft surgery charity based in Marbella, through an event organised by Business First. In 2010, the new UK-based charity The Safe House needed a logo and came to Redline for support. Redline also produced the website in 2011 for the local exhibition featuring Dr. Hillary Jones "Living Well Marbella", held in February at the Puente Romano Hotel in aid of Meningitis UK, to name a few.

"I feel proud to be able to contribute to help these causes through my profession," says Uwe Lyster, director of Redline Company. "I think it is important to actively support the community and the Redline team strives to be of assistance and help where we can."

Apart from its charitable work, Redline is pleased to be supporting The 3rd Festival Internacional de Arte Marbella, which is taking place in Marbella Centre from June 23 - 26 June, by designing this year's festival programme.

Redline Company also finds it important to join the local networking organisations and is an active member of CIT Marbella, Women in Business and Costa Business Club to name a few.
